NUMB. 2520

WEDNESDAY, JULY 20. 1743.

Santa Cruz in Barbary, May 28.

THE Extent of King Muley Abdallah's Dominions is now the same with those of the late Emperor Muley Ismael, his Father. The Basha of Tangier and Tetuan has been obliged to surrender himself Prisoner to this Prince, who has made himself Master of all the Treasures that for a long time the Shahs of that Place had been laying up. The King's Power has reduced the few Places that were standing out, and is already arrived at Tarudant; so that, in all probability, our Democratic Government is at an end; and we cannot resist, we must, with the best Grace we can, submit.

Leghorn, July 7. On the 29th of last Month we were informed by a Tartane that left Tunis on the 23d, that the Bey having discovered a Conspiracy against him, had caused upwards of 600 Heads to fly off Peoples Showers in two Mornings, which had thrown that City into the utmost Confusion. According to our last Advices from Messina, Things grow there daily worse and worse, so much that 10,000 People were thought to be already dead of this new Distemper, which, however, the inhabitants flatter themselves is not the Plague, but an epidemic Fever only, which will gradually wear out as the Weather grows cooler.

Naples, July 3. The Court continues to receive regularly, every two Days, Letters from Messina, but they are copied after the Originals have been thrice perfumed, before they are carried to Court. According to those that arrived last, Multitudes have died within these three Weeks; and from the Tuesday before, to the Tuesday which the Letters came away, no less than 1600. of the Jesuits who remain to administer Spiritual Comfort, 26 died in a Week; they have lost also most of their Physicians: Upon which they sent for a Recruit to Palermo, where, out of Respect to the publick Good, they were obliged to draw Lots. It is impossible to describe the Terror we are in here from the Apprehension of this Contagion spreading; to prevent which, however, we have fitted out a Squadron of armed Barks to guard the Coasts, and have posted several Regiments of Foot along the Shore.

Vienna, July 13. The Empress is perfectly recovered from her late Indisposition, and, the Day before Yesterday, went to pay a Visit to the Queen at the Castle of Schonbrunn, and, in the Evening, her Majesty returned to this City. The Colours that were taken at Braunau, after remaining several Days in the Hall belonging to the President of the Council of War, have been distributed, as usual, among the Churches of the City. Veldt Mar- Traun having written to her Majesty, beseeching her to give him Leave to spend the Remainder of his Days in Quiet, she has been pleased to thank him in the most gracious manner for his Services, to declare him Governor of Brun, and of the Duchy of Moravin, and since Lobkowitz is to succeed him as Governor of Milan, and Commander in Chief of all her Majesty's Forces in Italy, which will amount to about 36,000 Men, when joined by the Reinforcements that are marching thither.

Frankfort, July 20. The Chevalier Oforio, Envoy from the Court of Turin to the King of Great Britain, arrived here within these few Days. He had an Audience of his Imperial Majesty, who received him with Marks of Esteem, and he has conferred every Day with the Ministers. We are assured that he is charged with a Commission of the last Importance. De Segur, Lieutenant-General of his most Christian Majesty's Armies is also here, and has had several Conferences with the Generals of the Allies, in relation to Ransoms that are expected for the Prisoners made in the late Battle. M. Blondel, the French Minister here, has begun to flatter ourselves that the Negotiations of William of Hesse have had the desired Effect; at least, thus much is certain, that the Negotiations for Peace are still pushed on with Vigour, and it is even believed that there is a private Treaty carrying on between Conde de Montijo, on the Part of his Catholic Majesty, and the Minister of a certain Crown. We expect here the Emperor's Life-guards, and the rest of his Regiments, which set out from Augsburg on the 14th; Prince Clement of Bavaria, and the Imperial Princes remain there still.

Manheim, July 19. Our Garrison has been reinforced with 1000 Men. All the Villages in our Neighbourhood swarm with Hussars, who have deprived the French of all Communication with the Neckar, and bid fair for preventing their having either Provision or Forage conveyed to them by the Rhine. This Morning they made four Squadrons of the French Horse Prisoners; and within these few Hours there came hither a German who was in the French Service, and is the single Person to whom they gave Quarter, when they cut to Pieces the seven Companies of Grenadiers. The French, before they repassed the Rhine, committed great Excesses, and would have done much more Mischief, if the Croats and Pandours had not appeared as they did; so that our Peasants look upon them as their Deliverers; and as they pay them ready Money for every Thing, they live with them on the best Terms imaginable. We have certain Intelligence, that 15,000 Hungarians and Rascians are in full March from the Upper Palatinate, to join the Army of Prince Charles of Lorraine. The Allies have seized the Village of Coltheim, and we expect every Hour to hear that they have passed the Rhine in the Neighbourhood of Mentz. Our Troops that were in the Emperor's Service are returned hither, and are encamped in a Meadow, at a small Distance from this City, where the Elector, our Sovereign, has been to review them. They consist of two Regiments of Horse, one of Dragoons, and four Battalions of Foot.

Extract of a private Letter from Paris, July 23, 1743.

When M. Broglie had informed the Emperor, by his Adjutant-General, of the Necessity he was under of quitting Bavaria, and of the Motives which induced him thereto, his Imperial Majesty was pleased to return him, by the same Officer, a Letter in the following Terms.

I so much the less expected this News from your Excellency, inasmuch as I received but Yesterday the inclosed Letter from the King your Master, in which he acknowledges the Honour of his Crown to be bound up with mine; promising never to desert me, but to treat me always as his Friend and near Relation.

I see, Sir, that I have now no Refuge left but in the Generosity of my Enemies; to that then will I trust: And as the King of England has offered me his Friendship, he will stand by me.

I hope, Sir, to open your King's Eyes, and then a Thousand Heads, such as that of M. Broglie's, will not be thought an Atonement for losing me two Kingdoms, and his Master two Armies.

Many Persons of Distinction are here arrested daily, on account of their speaking too freely of Publick Affairs. We look upon it here as a Thing certain, that the Emperor has quitted our Alliance; but we think it, at the same time, very uncertain, whether this will, or will not, be for his Advantage. He is now to take care of himself, and so are we; but we think ourselves in a much better Condition of the two. All the new Levies that have been talk'd of, will certainly take Place; and if the War continues, the King will take the Field in Person next Year. As every Courier brings fresh Advices of the Death of Persons who were wounded in the Battle of Dettingen, Two-thirds of our Court are by degrees got into Mourning. Our last Advices from Spain say, that the King is hardly alive, that he is worn to Skin and Bone, and that it was thought he could not hold out many Days. Our News from Italy leave all Things as they were, and the War at a full Stand, for which many Pretences are made; but the Truth is, their Apprehension of the King's Death, which would absolutely change the present System, not only at Madrid, but, if some People are to be believed, at Naples. It is from M. Noailles alone that we hope for good News; and if his Army is not more lucky on this Side the Rhine than it was on the other, our Actions, now at the round Sum of 2000, will quickly run down.

P. S. The Abbé de Broglie has quitted the Court, and retired to his Abby, which is but four Leagues from Versailles. This was of his own Motive, and from a Foresight of what would happen. This Morning he receiv'd a very disagreeable Compliment; viz. That it was believed the Air of Mont St. Michael, which is an Abbey of his at a great Distance, would, at this Juncture, best agree with his Health. The Marshal also has Orders to retire to his Estate. However, in case the Emperor joins with our Enemies, it is believed he will be speedily recalled. In the mean time it is certain, that he hath a great many powerful Friends at Court.

The only short and infallible Cure

For that reigning Disease the SCURVY, and all Scorbutick Humours arrived to the highest and most inveterate Degree, or ever so many Years standing, and that without any sensible Operation or the least Purging, which by an unaccountable is generally advised, although always found rather to increase than confirm the Scurvy than cure it.

By the so much famed and most pleasant Chymical DIOPH-

WHICH, without the least Trouble

Confinement, or any Disorder whatever, do at once cure the true Cause of the Scurvy, and entirely destroy it, and Scorbutick Humours and Effects, Root and Branch, so as to return again, as many Thousands of both Sexes have experienced, and as all who take them, in 3 Days time will be convinced they almost instantly alter the morbid State of the Juices, purify Blood, sweeten all the Fluids, cleanse them from Impurities, directly clear the whole Habit from all Spots, Blisters, black blue Marks, Itchings, foul Eruptions, or Breakings out, of the Limbs, languid Heaviness of the whole Body, weak Pains, Weakness of the Back, and all the vast Variety of symptoms by which the Scurvy imitates and often lies concealed under the Appearance of the Rheumatism, and many other Distempers.

And for strengthening the Stomach, immediately creating an Appetite, causing a regular and easy Digestion of Food, and all windy Effects and Disorders of the first Passages (wherein proceed Head-achs, Vapours and other Indispositions) no other Medicine upon Earth can compare with them, which that besides infallibly curing the Scurvy in all its Shapes and appearances, they also assuredly and immediately cure the Green-sickness in Virgins, Worms of all Kinds in young or old, and all other Chronick Distempers, (which are chiefly occasioned by indigestion and stantant Crudities in the Stomach and Bowels) and prevent Fevers, Agues, and other acute Illnesses.

They are wonderfully Cordial and Restorative, strengthen the whole Machine, and as soon as taken, make the Person pleasantly Lighthearted, brisk and Vigorous to administration, good for all Sorts of Persons, to preserve as well as to cure a sound and healthy State of Body.

But the great Reputation these famous fam'd and pleasant Chymical Drops have so universally gain'd among Persons of all Ages for their suddenly and infallibly curing the Scurvy and all its tick Humours, and other Chronick Distempers, in such an agreeable Manner, have occasioned many to imitate them, under the same, and others under other Names: Be careful therefore not to be deceiv'd; but be sure to have the Right, viz. the Author's special Appointment, as to be had only at the Gentlewoman's, at the Two Blue Posts, in Haydon-Yard, in the Minories, at 3 s. 6 d. a Bottle, with Directions.
